Mandala Art Festive Light Lantern Jars

The five-day Diwali 2026 festival begins on Friday 6th November, so it was the perfect time to bring my glass jar decorating workshop to Landrow Place to prepare some handmade home decor celebrating colour and light.

Creativity was at its finest this evening, as my delightful guests designed the most amazing glass lanterns. Some chose the most impressive intricate and traditional designs, while some opted for contemporary patterns, shapes and designs.

Everyone left with two beautifully handmade and extremely impressive lanterns lit perfectly by battery operated tea lights. A lovely evening and all the residents had so much fun.

What made the evening so special was just how therapeutic and absorbing the whole process was. With all equipment fully provided — paints, brushes, acrylic markers, stencils, glitter and battery-operated tea lights — guests were free to simply switch off, focus, and lose themselves in their designs. That kind of quiet concentration, carefully applying each dot, stroke and pattern to the glass, has a wonderfully calming effect, and you could see guests really settling into the creative flow as the evening progressed.

Of course, it wasn't all quiet! The room was filled with laughter and conversation throughout, as residents shared ideas, admired each other's work and enjoyed the chance to connect with their neighbours in a relaxed and creative setting. That combination — focused creativity alongside genuine social interaction — is exactly what makes these workshops such a hit in residential communities.

If you would like to bring this workshop or any of our other events to your premises, we would love to hear from you. Get in touch at bandbprop@yahoo.com or call/WhatsApp 07927204294 — we'd be delighted to arrange something special for your residents.
